

CHRISTCHURCH Ōtautahi

Christchurch City
Christchurch

Ōtautahi Christchurch isn't just a place to host business events, it's a city built for them. Modern, connected and easy to navigate, Christchurch combines world-class infrastructure with a thriving innovation ecosystem, leading universities and expertise across emerging industries. A city of balance, it seamlessly blends contemporary urban design with expansive green spaces, while serving as the gateway to New Zealand's spectacular South Island landscapes, from alpine peaks and world-renowned wine regions to dramatic coastlines. Known for its collaborative business events sector, Christchurch provides an inspiring setting for organisations, events and ideas that are shaping the future.

ACCESSIBILITY

Christchurch International Airport is a 20-minute drive from the city centre and is the major international gateway into the South Island. Direct international flights arrive from Singapore, Tokyo, Guangzhou, Hong Kong and San Francisco, and around Australia and the Pacific. Air New Zealand and Jetstar offer daily flights linking all major cities and many regional towns across New Zealand.

VENUES

Christchurch is home to the world-class Te Pae Christchurch Convention Centre, which opened in 2022 in the heart of the city. Its flexible events space includes a 1364-seat tiered auditorium divisible into two 682-seat venues, an exhibition hall accommodating more than 200 booths, and a banquet hall with river views seating 960 people.

Christchurch's central city has an incredible range of venues. The Christchurch Town Hall is a premium performing arts and conference venue, with the Douglas Lilburn Auditorium seating 2,250 people and the James Hay Theatre seating 750 people, along with several other smaller spaces for meetings, exhibitions, and catering.

Create bespoke events in the stunning restored heritage architecture of the Arts Centre or the contemporary spaces in Christchurch Art Gallery with its impressive glass façade. Design a unique experience in the Transitional 'cardboard' Cathedral or at picturesque Hagley Oval Pavilion.

The One New Zealand Stadium is right in the central city, seating over 30,000 for large events, and with multiple spaces for functions and incentive experiences. The Air Force Museum of New Zealand, 15 minutes from the city, provides a variety of spaces ideal for memorable conferences and themed gala dinners.

ACCOMMODATION

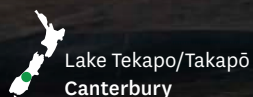

There are more than 5,500 rooms on offer across Christchurch in a wide variety of accommodation, from boutique luxury lodges and self-serviced apartments to modern hotels, many brand new or totally refurbished with conference facilities on site. Those wanting to stay outside of Christchurch will find a wide selection of quality accommodation throughout the Canterbury region.

GETTING AROUND

Visitors can travel from the international airport to the city and in between venues and attractions by taxi, ride share, shuttle, rental car, or public bus. The central city is easily walkable or navigable via e-scooters and e-bikes. For those travelling outside the city, luxury coach companies can organise tours or visitors can self-drive rental vehicles to popular nearby destinations such as Akaroa, the North Canterbury boutique wine region, the alpine town of Hanmer Springs, Kaikōura, and Aoraki/Mt Cook.
